1. Tender Package – Cover Letter

Tips – when to include a sub-contractor:

- Sub-contractors are highly encouraged where it leads to a long-term relationship and may help establish supply chain partnerships
- Be sure to explain clearly what the sub-contractor / service provider / partner / customer is doing and why they are needed in the proposal
- The rationale of the proposed industrial organisation should be well-justified.

Examples:

- A potential customer may help you with defining technical requirements and/or specifications or performing tests and/or qualification (as sub-contractor, external service provider or through service in-kind via a letter of support).
- If test or qualification facilities are necessary and these are not available in the country or the know-how to do it, you may have a European partner within the ESA Member States (as sub-contractor or external service provider).
- If your company/institute has no or little expertise in space activities, a European partner may be part of the team (as sub-contractor or external service), but you MUST ensure that Latvian entities are doing the core activities (Intellectual Property MUST remain within Latvia and minimum 80% Budget MUST go to Latvian entities).

What is the difference between a Subcontractor and External Services?

External services cover recurring services that need no development effort such as hire of facilities, computer services, manpower services (e.g. consultancy), plating of parts, services for procurement of HIREL parts, etc. The costs for these should be shown on the PSS A2 form of the Prime Contractor under Other Cost Elements Point 3.7 and further detailed on Exhibit.

A Third Party should be involved as subcontractor (not as external services) when they are contributing to the development work of the project, when they are responsible for the realisation of specific work packages. To include a Third Party as Subcontractor also involves a firm commitment by the Third Party (contract between Prime contractor and Subcontractor) and is especially recommended when this Third Party is essential to carry out the activity.
